General Notes: Wife -
Careful studies of the Dionne Quints showed that they were the product of the multiple twinning of a single ovum. Yvonne and Annette were twinned from one of the two eggs produced in the first twinning. The second egg twinned to produce Cecile and another egg that twinned again to produce Emilie and Marie. As identical quintes they were prone to identical ailments at identical times. In November 1938, they simultaneously became infected with tonsillitis which necessitated five simultaneous tonsillectomies. Source: Life Magazine - September 2, 1940 Source Citations 1.
